

Criminal Venture or 'Business as Usual'? Corporate Accountability for Violations of International Law in the Occupied Palestinian Territory

The Center for Human Rights and Global Justice and the Gallatin School welcome Valentina Azarov to speak about the Accountability Project created in response to the reality that in the Occupied Palestinian Territory (OPT), many foreign companies are complicit in Israel's human rights abuses, by providing the Israeli army with the equipment essential for house demolitions and military operations and by constructing the Annexation Wall and settlements in occupied territory. Al-Haq, a Palestinian human rights organization based in Ramallah, West Bank, set up the Accountability Project, which aims to use foreign national legal systems, where possible, to seek justice for violations of international law.

Jenae Noell (Introduction) - Center Associate, Center for Human Rights and Global Justice, NYU School of Law

Vasuki Nesiah (Moderator) - Associate Professor of Practice, Gallatin School, NYU

Valentina Azarov (Speaker) - Legal Researcher with Al-Haq. Lecturer in International Law and Human Rights, Chair of the Human Rights Program at the Al-Quds Bard Honors College at Al-Quds University, Palestine.

NYU GALLATIN
SCHOOL OF INDIVIDUALIZED STUDY

Furman Hall, Room 328 (245 Sullivan St.)
February 9, 2009, 12.00-1.00 PM

Space is limited. Please RSVP to Kelly Ryan at ryank@exchange.law.nyu.edu to be guaranteed entrance to the event. Lunch will be served.