

CHRGJ's Litigating Human Rights Series presents:

Seeking Accountability for Rendition and Secret Detention through Litigation before the African Commission on Human and Peoples' Rights

Please join CHRGJ in a panel discussion exploring the strategy and processes behind Al-Asad v. Djibouti, a case filed by the Global Justice Clinic at NYU School of Law on behalf of Mohammed al-Asad at the African Commission on Human and Peoples' Rights. This groundbreaking case, filed in collaboration with Interights, is the first to address the role of an African state in committing violations of human rights in connection with the U.S. "War on Terror"

Panelists

Gabe Armas-Cardona, third year law student, NYU School of Law

Jayne Huckerby, Adjunct Assistant Professor of Law of the Global Justice Clinic; Research Director CHRGJ

Wade McMullen, third year law student, NYU School of Law

Meg Satterthwaite, Associate Professor of Clinical Law at NYU School of Law; Faculty Director CHRGJ

212 Furman Hall, 245 Sullivan Street.
Wednesday April 6, 6-8 PM

Space is limited. Please RSVP by April 4th to Audrey Watne at audrey.watne@nyu.edu to be guaranteed entrance to the event. Panel discussion to be followed by a brief reception.